

Table of contents

1.	Czech Euroscepticism as an object of social-scientific research.....	8
1.1	Study of Euroscepticism in the Czech Republic: state of the art and remaining challenges.....	12
1.2	Aims and structure of the book.....	14
1.3	Acknowledgements.....	15
2	Defining the object of research and the concepts and methods used.....	17
2.1	Czech Euroscepticism as a single-case study.....	21
2.2	The concept of party Euroscepticism.....	24
2.3	The concept of public Euroscepticism.....	28
2.4	The conceptual treatment of Eurosceptic behaviour of a small state.....	31
2.5	The concept of Europeanisation.....	32
2.6	Europeanisation of Euroscepticism as socialisation of political actors.....	35
2.7	Operationalising the research.....	40
2.8	Actors of Czech Euroscepticism under study: criteria for selection.....	43
2.9	Research methods.....	46
3.	Czech Euroscepticism before 2004: a survey.....	53
3.1	Investigating the history of narratives of the Czech Euroscepticism.....	54
3.2	The context and actors of Czech Euroscepticism prior to EU accession.....	57
3.3	'Return to Europe' and other pro-European narratives.....	59
3.4	The narratives of early Czech Euroscepticism.....	63
3.5	A conceptual map of early Czech political debate about the EU.....	72
4.	Euroscepticism among the Czech public.....	75
4.1	Motivations for public Euroscepticism.....	75
4.2	Data, operationalisation and method.....	76
4.3	Analysis.....	80

4.4	Development of the Czech public Euroscepticism.....	88
5.	Political parties.....	91
5.1	Czech Eurosceptic political parties.....	92
5.2	The Europeanisation of Eurosceptic party-political programmes.....	93
5.3	Positions on European integration.....	97
5.4	The Civic Democratic Party – national interests in liberal-economic attire.....	100
5.5	The Free Citizens Party – a rejection of European integration.....	103
5.6	Cooperation at the supranational level.....	105
5.7	Europeanized Eurosceptic Parties.....	108
5.8	Appendix: Categories of the coding schema.....	111
6.	Czech Eurosceptic intellectuals.....	112
6.1	Czech public intellectuals in the debate about European integration.....	113
6.2	Václav Klaus as the intellectual focus of Czech Euroscepticism.....	116
6.2.1	A pragmatic, soft Eurosceptic: Václav Klaus in the 1990s.....	117
6.2.2	A Union less and less desired: Václav Klaus from the turn of the millennium to the adoption of the Lisbon Treaty.....	119
6.2.3	On the way to hard Euroscepticism: Václav Klaus since 2009.....	121
6.3	Petr Mach, or the gradual emancipation of Klaus’s apprentice.....	125
6.4	Miloslav Bednář: from the philosophy of politics to the politics of Euroscepticism.....	129
6.5	Petr Fiala, the sceptical European.....	133
6.6	Alexander Tomský: Euroscepticism as a product of cultural conservatism.....	137
6.7	Michal Semín and Citizen Initiative D.O.S.T.: Euroscepticism as a product of Christian conservatism.....	139
6.8	Miloslav Ransdorf: in the name of communist internationalism.....	141
6.9	Czech intellectual Euroscepticism (largely) under the sign of Europeanisation.....	143

7.	Czech Euroscepticism in the Council of the EU.....	146
7.1	The Czech Republic and its conduct in the EU.....	147
7.2	Data and analytical procedure.....	148
7.3	Analysis.....	151
7.3.1	Working groups in the Council of the EU.....	152
7.3.2	Analysis of voting in the Council of the EU.....	154
7.4	De-Europeanization of the Czech Cabinets.....	158
8.	Conclusion: the Europeanisation of Czech Euroscepticism since 2004.....	161
8.1	Changing arguments, strategies and political relevance of Czech Eurosceptic political actors.....	162
8.2	Czech Euroscepticism and socialisation in the EU since 2004.....	165
8.3	Causes of persistent Europeanised Euroscepticism in the Czech Republic.....	166
8.4	Euroscepticism in Central and Eastern Europe: a post- Communist or a Europeanised phenomenon?.....	167
	List of references.....	170
	List of figures.....	194
	List of tables.....	194
	List of abbreviations.....	196
	Index.....	198