Dear Madam, dear Sir

We gladly welcome you at this international conference, which brings together scholars and scientists from throughout the world.

For you, we have prepared this specific catalogue so you can comfortably leaf through those huge pages and find out anew how busy our authors—knowledgeable academics from all around the globe—have been keeping us.

Since you belong to those academics who are not limited in interest and knowledge by national boundaries, we are sure that you will find the same attitude reflected in the two Budrich Publishing Houses’ book lists.

I have built Barbara Budrich Publishers and Budrich UniPress in order to provide a forum that is European to start with, and does go beyond, i.e. global, intentionally. Unlike the multinational corporate giants, we are independent, and free to take publishing decisions regardless of share holder interests.

Thus, we want to support you and your discipline, as part of the academic community in Political Science, in International Relations—as well as in Social Sciences, Gender Studies—by offering great publishing opportunities, and, as a result, great books as well as journals.

Wishing you an inspiring time,

Kind regards

Barbara Budrich

The World of Political Science

Jane H. Bayes (ed.)
Gender and Politics: The State of the Discipline
29,90 € (D), US$45.95
This timely collection reviews the field of gender and politics and its relationship to the discipline of political science at the beginning of the twenty-first century. The authors recognize and document the Eurocentric focus that has characterized both fields and suggest viable alternatives for the future.

Mark Haugaard
Kevin Ryan
Political Power: The Development of the Field
26,00 € (D), US$39.95
ISBN 978-3-86649-105-2
Although the concept of power is central to the study of politics, there is no agreement as to what exactly power is. Power is often viewed negatively, as domination, though it is also the case that power is created by people acting in concert, in which case it can have positive effects. Making sense of this puzzle is one of the aims of this book, which provides the reader with a clear and coherent way of understanding the various forms and manifestations of power.

Norbert Kersting (ed.)
Electronic Democracy
24,90 € (D), US$36.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0018-9
This book takes stock of the state of the art and future of electronic democracy, exploring the history and potential of e-democracy in global perspective. Analysing the digital divide, the role of the Internet as a tool for political mobilization and communication, social media, Internet Voting and Voting Advice Applications, and other phenomena, this volume critically engages with the challenge for more transparency and political participation through e-democracy.

John Trent
Michael Stein (eds.)
The World of Political Science: A Critical Overview of the Development of Political Studies around the Globe: 1990-2012
19,90 € (D), US$29.95
How well is the field of political studies doing and where is it headed? These questions are answered by this broad world overview of political science, its advances and shortcomings, along with prescriptions for the future in the first decades of the 20th century. The volume includes three world regional assessments of the discipline by senior scholars along with an in-depth survey of various sub-disciplinary fields and a concluding critical essay on the future of political studies.

Gendering European Integration Theory
Engaging New Dialogues
54.90 € (D), US$79.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0640-2

The authors engage a dialogue between European integration theories and gender studies. The contributions illustrate where and how gender scholarship has made creative use of integration theories and thus contributes to a vivid theoretical debate. The chapters are designed to make gender scholarship more visible to integration theory and, in this way stimulates the broader theoretical debates.

The Politics of Nuclear Energy in the European Union
Framing the Discourse
Approx. 49.90 € (D), US$75.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0133-9

Oft forgotten but simmering “frozen conflicts” continuously mark the political map of Europe. All located in South Eastern Europe, the Black Sea area and Transcaucasia, these conflicts run along ethnic, national, cultural and linguistic lines, separating communities.
Do norms of justice, human rights and democracy enable disenfranchised communities? Or do they simply reinforce relations of domination between those who are constituted as dispensers of justice, rights and aid, and those who are coded as receivers? Critical race theorists, feminists and queer and postcolonial theorists confront these questions and offer critical perspectives.

Security is a social practice, which constitutes different formations of political order. Developing a political economy of security practice, the author distinguishes these formations with a view to the actual exchanges between various providers and receivers of security services.

Currently, the EU is at the crossroads of its existence as a political union: The war in and around Syria, the main cause of the refugee question, calls for coherent European positions and actions. The book aims at analyzing the risks the EU is facing as well as at searching for political and institutional responses and ways out of the crisis.

The authors analyse and evaluate the various effects of Participatory Democratic Innovations in Europe, providing a bigger picture of the benefits and disadvantages different democratic innovations can result in.
The term of governance and the way it has been used by European institutions have elicited much interest in the academic world. However, the notion and its uses have often been studied only in terms of intellectual development or network analysis. Such researches leave us in the dark on a key question.

International in scope, this book presents an in-depth and cross-sector reflection on youth policy, in terms of theory, practice and emerging trends and issues affecting young people’s lives in Latin America, Europe, Asia and North America.
There is constant debate around the questions of what constitutes the ‘just’ distribution of goods and how we can assess existing distribution patterns. In this book Grzegorz Lissowski argues that three types of principles need to be distinguished according to three requirements of justice: equality, impartiality, and unanimity.

State sponsorship of terrorism connects major contemporary issues of international relations such as intra- and interstate conflict as well as third-party intervention. The author examines Syria’s relations with Palestinian Fatah, Turkish-Kurdish PKK, and Lebanese Hizballah, between 1964 and 2006.

The theory and concept of multi-level governance (MLG) is a fairly recent one, emerging from the deepening integration of the European Union in the early 1990s and the development of free trade agreements around the world. The book analyses the changes that have taken place as well as those that might take place in the future.

The book explores how the European Union and its members have been renegotiating Europeanisation and renationalisation in response to the multiple crises they faced in recent years. The authors highlight varying understandings of crises in different national and supranational policy and institutional contexts.

Transnational civil society networks have become increasingly important democratizing actors in global politics. Still, the exploration of democracy in such networks remains conceptually and methodologically challenging. The author attempts to understand how new forms of democratic practice emerge in the interaction between political actors and their structural environments.

Gender Equality has not yet been achieved in many western countries. Switzerland in particular has failed as a forerunner in integrating women in politics and economy. Taking Switzerland as a case study, the authors critically reflect the state of gender equality in different policy areas such as education, family and labour.

There is constant debate around the questions of what constitutes the ‘just’ distribution of goods and how we can assess existing distribution patterns. In this book Grzegorz Lissowski argues that three types of principles need to be distinguished according to three requirements of justice: equality, impartiality, and unanimity.

Russia and China
A political marriage of convenience – stable and successful
2017. Approx. 250 pages. Hc. Approx. 48.00 € (D), US$63.00
ISBN 978-3-8474-2045-3

This book depicts the sophisticated relationship between Russia and China as a pragmatic one, a political “marriage of convenience”. Yet at the same time the relationship is stable, and will remain so. After all, bilateral relations are usually based on pragmatic interests and the pursuit of these interests is the very essence of foreign policy.

Daniela Irrera (eds.)
Security Beyond the State
The EU in an Age of Transformation
Approx. 39.90 € (D), US$49.00
ISBN 978-3-8474-2098-9

The authors assess the main challenge for the EU: the need to operate in a multidimensional setting where with a wide range of actors, such as member states, national and international NGOs, international organisations (NATO and the UN in primis), as well as a wide range of activities, rules and norms are generated for these diversified crises.

The Internet and European Integration
Pro- and Anti-EU debates in Online News Media
49.90 € (D), US$75.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0578-8

This book offers a wealth of original empirical data on how online media shape EU contestation. Taking a public sphere perspective, the authors highlight the myths and truths about the nature of audience-driven online media content and show how public demands for legitimacy are at the heart of the much-analyzed politicization of European integration.

Meltem Müftüler-Baç
Divergent Pathways: Turkey and the European Union
Re-Thinking the Dynamics of Turkish-European Union Relations
2016. 159 pp. Hc.
39.90 € (D), US$58.00
ISBN 978-3-8474-0612-9

Should Turkey become a part of the European Union? This heated debate has been going on for many years now. The book’s main argument is precisely that the Turkish accession needs to be analyzed not only by looking at the EU’s impact on Turkish transformation but also from an angle that captures the Turkish role in recasting Europe.

The Politics of Parliamentary Procedure
The formation of the Westminster procedure as a parliamentary ideal type
56.00 € (D), US$85.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0610-5

Currently, parliament as a political institution does not enjoy the best reputation. This book aims to recover less known political resources of the parliamentary mode of proceeding.
The ANTICORRP Project: The Anticorruption Report

Alina Mungiu-Pippidi (ed.)
Controlling Corruption in Europe
19.90 € (D), US$29.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0125-4

Corruption has an impact. It is about time that anticorruption starts having an impact, too. This is the first annual policy report of the European Seventh Framework Research Project ANTICORRP, which has started in 2012 and will continue until 2018.

Alina Mungiu-Pippidi (ed.)
The Anticorruption Frontline
19.90 € (D), US$29.95

From Turkey to Egypt, Bulgaria to Ukraine, and Brazil to India, we witness the rise of an angry urban middle class protesting against what they see as fundamental corruption of their political regimes, perceived as predatory and inefficient.

Parliamentarism and Democratic Theory
Historical and Contemporary Perspectives
42.90 € (D), US$58.00

The authors deal with the place of parliamentary politics in democracy. Apparently a truism, parliamentarism is in fact a missing research object in democratic theory, and a devalued institutional reference in democratic politics. Yet the parliamentary culture of politics historically explains the rise and fall of modern democracies.

Teaching Civics
A Manual for Secondary Education Teachers
2015. 244 pp. Pb.
29.90 € (D), US$45.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0704-1

Around the world, teaching civics is our most practical tool for learning about democracy. In Germany, the art of civics education is constantly being reconsidered and revised. The aim of this book is to provide educators with a varied and theoretically robust repertoire of professional strategies that are grounded in the social sciences.

(Why) Do Neighbours Cooperate?
Institutionalised Coalitions and Bargaining Power in EU Council Negotiations
29.90 € (D), US$33.00
ISBN 978-3-86388-029-3

Negotiations in the European Union Council of Ministers are not only taking place within formal decision-making structures. Member states strive to find allies and coordinate their positions prior to formal negotiation meetings.

The Regional Security Puzzle Around Afghanistan
Bordering Practices in Central Asia and Beyond
59.90 € (D), US$89.95
ISBN 978-3-8474-0789-8

Western military presence wanes in Afghanistan and a transformed security environment challenges borders and stability in Central Asia. This book examines how the tensions relating to the reorganization of external military presence interact with regional states’ ambitions and challenge the borders already contested by numerous dividing lines.

Regional Participation within European Multi-Level Governance
Saxony-Anhalt: Regional Parliament, Regional Government, Stakeholders
2017. 222 pp. Pb. 33,00 € (D), US$42.00 ISBN 978-3-86388-741-4

Why is there a regional participation of Saxony-Anhalt within the European Multi-Level Governance system? The author provides an account of the characteristics of European Multi-Level Governance (EMLG) and regional participation therein, by describing the EMLG and identifying its topics and categories of meaning for regional participation.

International Relations
A Self-Study Guide to Theory

The book is written for active learners – those keen on cutting their own path through the complex and at times hardly comprehensible world of THE-ORY in International Relations. To aid this process as much as possible, this book employs the didactical and methodical concept of integrating teaching and self-study.

Michael Staack (ed.)
Multilateralism and Multipolarity
Structures of the Emerging World Order
WIFIS-aktuell, vol. 47
2013. 44 pp. Pb. 7,90 € (D), US$15.95 ISBN 978-3-8474-0079-0

The international system is undergoing a fundamental change from unipolarity to multipolarity and is facing a growing importance of Asia in world politics. In order to build Global Governance for the 21st century the multipolar state-system must be complemented.
